4.1.3. How the juries work

Jury decisions are final subject to compliance with European rules.

The jury meets in two separate sessions at different times.

- At the first session, it shortlists between 10 and 20% of the projects entered.

- At the second session, it examines all these projects and chooses the winners, runners-up and entries for honorable mention.

Each entry is judged on its merits alone and the winning teams (listing 1: winners and runners-up) are not chosen on the basis of an equal distribution between sites. The jury can distribute prizes among entries up to his will and can decide not to award all the prizes. In this case, the reasons will be made public.

Winners will receive prize money amounting to the equivalent of €12,000.

Runners-up will receive prize money amounting to the equivalent of €6,000.

The jury may single out projects for honorable mention (listing 2: honorable mentions).

Projects singled out for honorable mention are recognised by the jury as containing interesting ideas or insights, even if not sufficiently suitable for the site to be awarded winning or runner-up status. The authors of projects that are given an honorable mention do not receive prize money.
